Silvertown Tunnel

LONDON, UK

The Silvertown Tunnel, a 1.4 km road link beneath the River Thames, connects Silvertown with the Greenwich Peninsula in East London.

Set to open in Spring 2025, the tunnel will ease congestion at the Blackwall Tunnel, delivering faster, more reliable journeys and significantly enhancing cross-river bus services. This will improve public transport connectivity and contribute to better air quality. Approved in 2018, the project includes dedicated bus lanes and upgrades to pedestrian and cycling infrastructure around the tunnel entrances, supporting broader regeneration on both sides of the river. To further benefit local communities, a comprehensive package of concessions and discounts has been developed for residents and businesses.
